

Town lights up to mark Jubilee

A BEACON was lit on Nantwich town square on Thursday evening as part of the town's celebrations to mark the Queen's Platinum Jubilee.

The Nantwich beacon was one of more than 2,022 beacons that were lit throughout the United Kingdom and overseas to celebrate The Queen's Platinum Jubilee.

The town square was also bedecked with bunting from the flags of British Commonwealth countries.

The event was organised by Nantwich Town Council and included the proclamation by Nantwich Town Crier Devlin Hobson, a speech by Mayor of Nantwich Peter Groves, a performance by Nantwich Choral Society and a military music and drum display by Cheshire Drums and Bugles.

Local community radio station The Cat 107.9 FM warmed up the visitors with a range of music through the decades.

● The proclamation is made by Nantwich Town Crier Devlin Hobson

● Cheshire Drums and Bugles performing at the beacon lighting ceremony

● Nantwich Choral Society performing at the beacon lighting ceremony

● Nantwich Town Crier Devlin Hobson and Mayor of Nantwich Peter Groves with the Nantwich beacon